The Art Loss Register (ALR) is the international due diligence database used by the art trade, currently listing more than 500,000 items. The ALR clients include 150 auction houses, 15 art fairs, and many dealers and art advisors. Police forces, insurers and theft victims register stolen, looted and fake art/antiques; lenders record security interests (see paper to be circulated to delegates); lawyers record claims and disputes. The ALR searches over 400,000 items pa sold publicly and privately through the international art market working closely with law enforcement, enabling recovery of stolen art worldwide.

It has been instrumental in raising due diligence standards for the research of provenance and providing The Watch Register and Classic Car Register for their markets.

Rawlinson & Hunter LLP has been at the forefront of the provision of tax and accounting advice to the art world, acting for Artists, Collectors, Galleries and Dealers since our formation in the early 1930s.

We act for leading artists, galleries & dealers on their underlying businesses and specific transactions. Many of our private clients are also avid collectors and we advise them regularly on transactional practicalities.

We provide intelligent, well thought out and practical advice on the financial aspects of art transactions. Our experience in advising on complex issues, often involving a number of jurisdictions with their associated tax implications, has given us a unique understanding of the requirements of those at the business end of the art world as well as collectors.

With offices in Paris, London and New York, Convelio specialises in the transport of fine art and collectible design and allows you to instantly book local and international shipments from their online platform.

How does it work? They have developed an innovative algorithm that generates instant quotes, along with an end-to-end solution to cover the entire shipping process: from collection, soft-packing and crating, to insurance, freight, customs, and front-door or white-glove delivery with installation. Through Convelio's dashboard, clients have access to white-label real-time tracking, shareable payment links, as well as their shipments history and all related documents. Convelio delivers on excellence, meeting industry standards for complex shipping demands unique to the art world.
